

HUS 133 : Geriatrics

This course introduces the need for making adjustments to retirement. Course topics include activities, hobbies and community agencies available for the aged. Emphasis is placed on common psychological and physical problems for the aging. Upon completion of this course, the student will have learned the many services available to the elderly and techniques to help them accept the changes in later life.

Program

Human Services

Hours 3

Theory Hours 3

Prerequisites

Admission to Human Services Program and permission of instructor