

CIS 222: Database Management Systems

This course will discuss database system architectures, concentrating on Structured Query Language (SQL). It will teach students how to design, normalize and use databases with SQL, and to link those to the Web.

hours: 3

Prerequisites:

Permission of Instructor

Program: Computer Science Technology