

OAD 130: Electronic Calculations

This course is designed to give students a job-level competency in using the ten-key touch method and develop the student's ability to solve common business problems with an electronic display-printing calculator. Emphasis is placed on basic mathematical functions in a business context. Upon completion students will be able to perform basic electronic calculating at an acceptable rate of speed and accuracy.

Credits: 3

Program: Office Administration